

MUST COMPLY WITH THE LAW

Teachers' Fraternal Insurance Company Has Not Done So Yet. HASTINGS ASYLUM SHORT OF FUNDS One Hundred Additional Patients to Be Sent There—Lincoln Light Infantry Replies to the Petition for a Receiver.

LINCOLN, June 15.—(Special).—The Teachers' National Fraternal Benefit association is the title of a full fledged insurance company recently launched upon the business sea of Lincoln. The word "recently" is used advisedly, for it has been long in existence its methods must be slightly modified. The Superintendent of Public Instruction A. K. Gouly is supreme Chancellor president of the institution, and M. P. Given secretary and general business factotum, with offices in the Trace block. Supreme Chancellor Gouly has been absent from the city during the past two days, but Secretary Given has seen today by a reporter for The Bee, and he said that the company was doing a great deal of business and writing many policies of insurance.

State Auditor Eugene Moore, when interviewed in regard to the enterprise, said that so far the Teachers' National Fraternal Benefit association was not known in the eyes of the state. He said that while an insurance company could adopt any name it saw fit, before it proceeded to write policies it must conform with the state laws. He said that the position of transacting business illegally. So far the Teachers' National Fraternal Benefit association had not complied with the law in any particular and he did not know whether its officers intended to do so or not.

MUST COMPLY WITH THE LAW. At the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction Corbett nothing was known of the company save that its organizer and chief promoter had been Prof. A. K. Gouly, and that the institution was organized soon after the expiration of Prof. Gouly's term of office as state superintendent. It is said that Hon. G. M. Lamberton, its adviser for the Lincoln insurance company, in this statement would appear, however, to be in direct conflict with the fact that the Teachers' National Fraternal Benefit association had not complied with the insurance laws. Auditor Moore further says that any secret organization, club, or association concerning insurance fees must comply with the law and be registered at the auditor's office before transacting any business in the state.

Colorado's attorney general, Byron L. Carr, was a visitor today at the state capital. He is en route to Cleveland and will attend to the convention of the Republican League club. Attorney General Carr represents a strong republican element in his state and announces himself as a supporter of the party and believes if the republican national convention does not adopt a free silver plank the party will lose not only Colorado, but quite a number of other western states.

APPROPRIATION IS TOO SMALL. Steward A. J. Scott of the Hastings Hospital for incurables was at the state capital today on special business with the members of the Board of Public Lands and Buildings. He told them that there were now 445 inmates in the hospital and that arrangements were being made to increase the number to 500 more. The appropriation for the asylum was $8,000 less than last year, but in order to accommodate the expected new comers it would be necessary to make some other arrangements. Some of the members of the board promised to help out in every way in their power.

Lieutenant J. A. Penn of the Second Infantry, U. S. A., has an office on Eleventh and I streets, where he is ready to entertain for the friends of the military.

The investigation of the accounts of Harry M. Shaffer, grand keeper of records and seal of the rights of the state, by a committee from the grand jury, has resulted in a report which is being reviewed by the grand jury in a couple of weeks and that official will regulate his official acts accordingly. Shaffer's friends in Lincoln are of the opinion that he will be found guilty of any wrong doing.

A lengthy answer to the petition for a receiver for the Lincoln National Bank, filed by Captain Campbell and other members of the company, was filed today in the district court. The petition for a receiver was filed by the board of directors of the company, and the answer was filed by the board of directors of the company, and the answer was filed by the board of directors of the company.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT AT BENKELMAN

Every Available Acre of Land Has Been Put Into Crops. BENKELMAN, Neb., June 15.—(Special).—Your correspondent, after interviewing the farmers of Dundy county and viewing the verdant fields the past ten days, cannot help but express himself as regards the great change that has occurred here since May 20. Between seven and eight inches of rain has fallen here since that day, which has entirely obliterated that dejected appearance so impressively stamped upon the face of every one previously, when visions of the third successive drought year and destitution began staring the people in the face.

Standing in every lagoon is a silver sheet of water, and every effort is being heroically made to plant every acre of land heretofore cultivated. The prospect is bright, and the farmers are confident that the crop will be a bumper one. The water has fallen here since that day, which has entirely obliterated that dejected appearance so impressively stamped upon the face of every one previously, when visions of the third successive drought year and destitution began staring the people in the face.

That business and Benkelman are booming may be verified by the addition of three new grocery stores, which will throw open their doors here the first of the coming week. One thing to be regretted about the new venture is the fact that three new stocks purchased not one was bought from a Nebraska house. Every order was carried by Lincoln and St. Louis, and the indications are that a great reward when the crop is gathered this fall.

The county commissioners have been in session several days as a board of equalization. The first crop of alfalfa is being cut and the turnout is great. Of course all alfalfa is new. The school board has employed Prof. Eberhart as principal for the next term of school. Prof. Daboll goes to Goshen. Prof. Eberhart in the intermediate and Mrs. Anna Barr in the primary department.

POWELL'S SLAYER CONVICTED

Charles Broaden Found Guilty of Murder in the Second Degree.

CRIME WAS WHOLLY UNPROVOKED Shot His Victim Because He Interfered with the Prisoner in the Hotel's Litter's Mother-Land Sentence Quite Probable.

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 15.—(Special Telegram).—The jury in the Broaden case went out about 2:30 and returned at 4 with a verdict of murder in the second degree. Judge Bush did not pass sentence, but the probability is that he will give twenty to thirty years in the penitentiary.

Charles Broaden shot and killed George Powell, near Rulo. The case created no little interest here, as the court house, during the trial, was filled to its utmost capacity with people from all over the county. Thirteen witnesses, three for the state and ten for Broaden, testified yesterday, and County Attorney Frank Reavis opened the arguments. Judges Thomas and Gillespie followed by Broaden. Broaden's mother testified that when he knocked her down and pointed a revolver at her, he was only in fun, as he always delighted in pestering somebody.

Sunday evening, May 13, Broaden went to the opposite bank of the Nemaha, from where his parents' house was located, and asked to be ferried across the river. He was drunk, and knowing him to be a bad man when in that condition, his mother refused to send a boat for him. He then got his revolver and commenced shooting at persons on the opposite bank, and when somebody did not get him across the river he would go back to the Burlington bridge and cross and kill everybody on the Missouri river bank.

They parleyed with him for a while, and Broaden finally agreed that he would proceed to Rulo as soon as he was set across. As soon as he set foot on the shore, however, he proceeded to beat and abuse Mrs. Brown, his mother, flourishing his revolver and threatening to shoot her. Powell intervened with him, and he beat his gun on him. Before Powell was shot the murderer asked him where his gun was, and was informed that it was in the wagon at the house, which was probably 200 yards from where the shooting took place.

FRANK OF A FLATSMOUTH MAN Old Merchant Closes His Store and Suddenly Disappears. PLATSMOUTH, Neb., June 15.—(Special Telegram).—Plattsmouth people are mystified over the strange disappearance of Francis McCourt, a grocer who has done business in this city for the past fifteen years. McCourt locked up his store last evening and gave the key to his nearest neighbor in business, telling him to sell the business to any one who wanted to buy, as he was going to Washington. He purchased a ticket for Omaha last evening and boarded the evening Burlington train for that town and since then nothing has been heard from him. Up to within a few weeks ago he was a model business man with no bad habits, but since he was sent to California he had shown a fondness for whisky, which surprised his friends. He has not really been at himself for several days. His debts do not amount to much, and he has quite a nest sum of money in the bank. His stock of groceries had been pretty well run down, yet there is enough left to amount to several hundred dollars. As all his relatives are in California it will not be known for several days what action would be best to take in the matter.
